Why did 2011 become the year of protest? How did students rediscover their radicalism? What links 4chan and the Arab Spring?

Occupy Everything is a collection of essays inspired by Paul Mason's blog post 'Twenty Reasons Why It's Kicking Off Everywhere'. With seven contributions from Leeds-based authors, Occupy Everything is a compelling attempt to understand the turbulent present and plot a better future.

Join us for a short talk, followed by a social with drinks, music and the chance to buy a signed copy...
