

Carrie Kelly

Director

Executive Governance

Carrie is currently the Director of Executive Governance and Sustainability for the central operations of the business. She has led the development of the programme that is central to the business, an international sustainability framework. Carrie has extensive experience in international operations having spent 14 years working for Royal Dutch Shell, multi-national insurance brokers, telecom and manufacturing.

Her focus is how to best engage across the value chain. Carrie has spent the last several decades identifying and developing exceptional people, leading in the business and implementing in practice strategies to the top. While Carrie has not been directly in HR, her focus is focused on the "people" element of what the business is achieving across the globe, and creating value. It is her focus to ensure people find growth, living the business values at the heart of everything that you deliver to them.

Carrie has lived and worked in the United States, Singapore, Belgium, the Netherlands and Hong Kong. She is a very happy, energetic, 40+ year old woman, a mother, and former Iron Man triathlete, looking to live every day.
